Enquiries seem to have been made, perhaps privately, as to this unyversall dearthe of vytells and a report is preserved naming three chief causes. 1st. The lack of breeding and rearyng of cattell and poultrie ware; for it is not possible to have that good cheape, that is not. Secondly, Regrating; when most part of vytells be gathered into few mens hands, who may defer to sell but when they see the most profit. Thirdly, the Kynges provisions; when vytels is taken from the poore people that be the breaders, against their will, and have neither ready money for their wares nor yet so much as it is worth. Which discourageth the people to breade and causeth the...
