Excerpt: . . . 15 tion is to shield non-network owned and operated affiliates from li-ability in situations where they have no reasonable opportunity to review scripted or recorded programming, or no reasonable basis to believe live or unscripted programming will contain obscene, inde-cent, or profane material. The Committee expects that the Commis-sion will develop a complete record and define the term network organization to effectuate that intent. The Committee made the distinction between network owned-and-operated station licensees (O and O) and non-network O and O sta-tion licensees because of the unique relationship between the net-work and the O and O. In light of this relationship, it is not unreasonable to expect that O and Os could receive special or favorable treatment as com-pared to the non-O and O station licensees in receiving advance copies of programming or advance notice of controversial content. Given their proximity within the same corporate structure, it is reason-able to attribute knowledge about programming from the network to an O and O. For this reason, the Committee did not include O and Os within the liability shield contained in the new section 503 (b) (2) (G). Section 4. Indecency penalties for nonlicensees Section 4 amends section 503 (b) (5) of the Communications Act of 1934 (47 U. S. C....
